Technical Ceramics
since 1865

150 Years of Haldenwanger

Specialist manufacturer of technical ceramics since 1865

Founded 150 years ago

Wilhelm Haldenwanger founded his eponymous porcelain manufactory in Berlin-Charlottenburg in 1865. The company began producing porcelain for medical applications, such as apothecary jars and sanitary crockery. Alongside Ernst and Paul March and August Niemann, Wilhelm Haldenwanger was one of the key figures in the manufacture of technical ceramics in Berlin. In 1868/69, Alfred Bruno Schwarz provided the funding that secured the company's survival.

Production then moved in 1882 from Charlottenburg to Heerstraße, a nearby street in Spandau, which at the time was still an independent town. In the meantime, Alfred Bruno Schwarz had secured all Haldenwanger shares and became the company owner. However, the W. Haldenwanger name was so well known that it was retained. In 1896, the Haldenwanger company took part in the first Great Industrial Exposition of Berlin. In 1910, the company began manufacturing ceramic tubes as well.
